Stained

Imperanon

Blinded by a betrayal scene No one there to keep my trust All these serpents in my head Make me see what I must

Scarred heart and wounded mind
My own blood now stains my hands
Fueled with rage to stand and fight
I will be the last who stands

Haunted by a murder scene My weakness was my only hope Broken alliance, broken trust From now on I live for myself

Battered heart and hollow mind My revenge became my world I regret not things I've done Alone I stand, still I hurt

I have no love for life anymore
I no longer believe in the world
Put your life in the hands of another
And you sure will lose it all

I will not break down and crumble Now that I've found my strength Show me the error of my ways And I will laugh at your face

I will not give in and stumble
Now that I see right through you
Try to make me change my way
And I'll show you the reasons why