

Wake up
Why won't you just wake up
And tell me that you're fine
And with your life in my arms
I couldn't stop the light

I threw this cape away
'Cause I don't wanna be your hero
And I don't wanna do this again
'Cause you don't even know the hell that I've become

So please wake up
I turn around and see your body laying next to me
I wanna save ya, I'm trying so desperately
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

Sleep, you sleep but I don't wake
And I still see your face
It's killing me how much I want you
And I am still not happy

So please wake up
I turn around and see your body laying next to me
I wanna save ya, I'm trying so desperately
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

She started screaming when I told her it was going to end
I made a promise that I'll never have to do this again
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

Just as I hold my last breath
She takes it from me
She opens up her eyes
I hope she can see

I turn around and see your body laying next to me
I wanna save her
I'm trying so desperately
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

I turn around and see your body laying next to me
I wanna save ya, I'm trying so desperately
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

She started screaming when I told her it was going to end
I made a promise that I'll never have to do this again
Will she ever understand that I
I am not her Superman

I am not her Superman
I am not her Superman
I'm not her Superman

I am not her Superman
