

Genius

Inara George

Everybody wants to be a genius.
You're not the only one
With all things that you might do
Which one of them will you get to?
Tomorrow when you wake up
Then you'll show them.

Nobody wants to break your heart
You do it on your own.
There's nothing wrong with you today
Nothing you had that they took away
But all the time you've waited
For what is owed to you

You want to fight, they fight you blue
You want to lie, who will lie with you.
You're the only one, waiting for a sign.
So you're the only one
So you're the only one

Everyone's had some situation
Keep it to yourself
There's no need to answer questions
Your lies have spoiled two confessions
And all the time you waited
Won't come back to you

You want to fight, they fight you blue
You want to lie, who will lie with you.
You're the only one, waiting for a sign.
So you're the only one
So you're the only one

Everybody wants to be a genius