

Dissension

Incendiary

Motivation through intimidation
You get what you want through exploitation
Of the thoughts and minds of those who try to lead a normal life

Full of honesty, free of shallow pleas
Of "I say these things with sincerity"
But you don't mean that, because you don't mean shit

I know the difference between conscious minds and dollar signs
Between thoughtful words and boldface lies

And now I see
The words you say had a hold on me
But I broke free from what used to be
The teeth of the vice and the fear of what's right
That didn't fucking let go of me

And now I see
The truth!

Just because you say it doesn't make it fucking right
Just because your stronger doesn't mean that I won't fight
Just because your stronger doesn't mean that I won't fight