Worlds Apart

Indecision

no matter how hard I tried the words remained unspoken ineloquence has caused my someday to be broken uncertainty has forced me to the price ruined is the first day of the rest of my life overestimate your own relevance crushing is the weight of your insignificance selfishness is rooted in your heart so proving to me that we're world's apart when I began to see with my eyes and not with my heart is when I first discovered that we were worlds apart Worlds apart
