

Humming Bird

Indica

Midnight and I'm all alone, whispers spiral in my mind
Sometimes I'm sinking like a stone, while I'm reaching for the sky

And when the rain is pouring down on me, I can see
The hummingbird against the wind
Won't you tell me, won't you tell me?
Have you found a better place far away, far away, far away?

Words are hanging from a cross, sinners will be tomorrow's saints
Starting how to turn it off, but somehow, we're burning up in flames

And when the rain is pouring down on me, I can see
The hummingbird against the wind
Won't you tell me, won't you tell me?
Have you found a better place far away, far away, far away?

A hummingbird against the wind
Won't you tell me where you've been?
Have you found a better place, a better place, a better place?

A hummingbird against the wind
Won't you tell me, won't you tell me?
Have you found a better place far away, far away, far away?
