

I know

Indios Bravos

No more concealing of the truth that is hurting me
I can't deny I'm losing the distance to this illusion
'Cause they are trying to teach me lying
But I am confident I must resist
Their intuitions are hidden believe me
They don't deserve your respect neither trustacy

I know ironic situations when you find out that everythig
You see around is dark 'cause maybe
Their sun is shining not for real

And I asked my father for advice
And this is what he said
Son I know it hurts you 'cause I've been there before
And I've been trying to find the answer
The only thing that I have found was that I must believe I can live like I want to
If I cannot change the world I won't change myself

I know ironic situations when you find out that everythig
You see around is dark 'cause maybe
Their sun is shining not for real

And I know their sun's shining not for real
