Growing Up With Shiva

Information Society

Growing up with shiva Is not as easy as it seens It's getting harder to sleep at night, And I don't always like my dreams Everybody's living down here I don't hate, But I dertainly fear White is white, Black is black Everybody's know we aren't going back As time goes by, It gets more clear Nobody's going to leave from here Let's all life in festive desperation We're all flushed with annihilation Give me a yard And I'll take a mile Because chaos never goes out of style You can trust him He's no fair weather friend He'll stay with you Until the bitter end We're all familiar with life at versailles And I get the feeling time's passing us by We're realized our true intention We're relaxing in the tension Let's dance our dance And sing our song, And hope to God that we are wrong Scared of being bored And bored with being scared I wonder if anyone really cared?
