

Wrongful Death

Information Society

I once knew a female
She felt soft and clean to me
She said things that
She said things that
She said things that
Made me think of her

And I don't see her now
And I don't see her now
And I don't see her now
And I don't see her now

She was suspected
She was suspected
And so, surrounded
And so, surrounded
And so, surrounded
And so, surrounded

She was rejected
She was rejected
And so, ended
And so, ended
And so, ended
And so, ended

She died a wrongful death
She died a wrongful death
She died a wrongful death
She died a wrongful death

She died a wrongful death
And I don't see her now
She died a wrongful death
And I don't see her now
She died a wrongful death
And I don't see her now
She died a wrongful death
And I don't see her now
