

Tell Me Why

Inglorious

You were cold, you were lonely
It seemed you had nobody left to call
I took you in, you claimed you loved me
This time I'm gonna have to let you know
You gotta go, gotta go

You always talk about
How you got high expectations
You always talk about
How you're gonna leave us behind, no

Already told you, you're the woman I love
Your jealousy's getting old

And tell me why, should I leave you alone
And tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone
And tell me why, should I leave you alone
And tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone

You always shout about
How I was yours for taking, oh
Screaming down the house
I'm thinking you had your time, no
Can't stand to see you when you're trying to find
My phone and telling me lies

And tell me why, should I leave you alone
Oh, tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone
And tell me why, should I leave you alone
Oh, tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone
Oh no, tell me why
Hey

Tell me why, should I leave you alone
Oh, tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone
And tell me why, should I leave you alone
Oh, tell me why, I work my fingers to the bone
Oh no, tell me why
Oh hey
