

Enemy

Ingrown

I don't see a way around this
It's time to take it all back
Since we're all on our own in this fuckin' world
Make sure to be the first ones to attack

Don't look back but keep a close watch on
The ones who fuckin' try to point you in any direction
It's up to you to make the move that's right
If you give in, that's the day they finally strike

What's the point of hangin' on
When nothin' stops the poison from flowing'?
And not many will be on your side
When the battle's inside your mind

No way out
They will try to pin us
Against each other
But don't forget

The enemy
