

We can't go back
We can't go back
They had us chained
They cut our backs
We held our breath in bluest seas
Our bodies thrown into the deep
They have drones
They have clones
They're ready for anyone and anything that knows
The truth you seek
The truth out there
It bangs on your door
Grips on your bones

It has you up at three in the morning
You're sweating and groaning
Wondering where we'll begin
At three in the morning
Listening to the universe
Her secrets are revealed

Star children, I got news for you
This is a 3d world
It's corrupt and blue
They want your souls
They want your heart and mind
They want to break us down
And kill our kind
They are ghosts
They are pale
They created the matrix
Created a living hell
For those with skin
Like night and gold
They know we're the animals
We're cannibals

They don't want us up at 3 in the morning
You're sweating and groaning
Wondering where we'll begin
At three in the morning
Listening to the universe
Her secrets are revealed

Before their ships came
Before the land was drenched in their stench
There was gold
There was life
There was understanding
A connection between the stars and the sea
(Ooh, this is a third eye groove)
The powers that be granted us passageway to the things that came before (Ooh I got a Birds Eye view)
A direct line to the catalyst
To the beginning
To the end