

We're born into an endless night
We'll sleep the day, saw the light
Distant memory, of a past life
The curtains drawn, the lights are low
My eyes are shut, nowhere to go
My last day home, is all that I own

Watch you go by, knowing it's the last time I'd see daylight
Well, now, the moment has passed, I tried to make it last, I can't remember
You're here, and the night's so long
Try to make my way back home, the stars go on forever

Watch you fly, and dance, and sing
I try to feel, just anything
A thousand-yard stare, takes me everywhere
Well, how I let you, watch you fall asleep
Gave me something I could keep 'til the dawn
The fear, now, it's gone

Watch you go by, knowing it's the last time I'd see daylight
Well, now, the moment has passed, I tried to make it last, I can't remember
You're here, and the night's so long
Try to make my way back home, the stars go on forever

So you watch it fade away, you sleep until there's no daylight

Now, the moment has passed, I tried to make it last, I can't remember
You're here, and the night's so long
Try to make my way back home, the stars go forever

Now, the moment has passed, I tried to make it last, I can't remember
You're here, and the night's so long
Try to make my way back home, the stars go forever
