

June

Inner Wave

Smile that shines like stars at night
Cold and bright the dying light
Tears they fall like rain in storm
You echo through my brain like once before

I just wanna share the world with you
Show you all the things that I could do

Wide awake alone at night
Remember how we laid in my bed that time
Heart stopped beating as galaxies collide
Earth stood still as our breath combined

I just wanna share the world with you
Show you all the things that I could do

I just wanna share the world with you
Show you all the things that I could do
