

we restart, refresh and then we shut down give up and find something better to do we do we care?
what do we need?
try as we might we simply are not entertained we sit and stare contempt for it all
we stake umbrage
at the transience of our machines show us how to live show us who we are
our connection is lost
we will never be the change we used to want to see
our connection is lost
we will never cross the lines that were drawn for us
our connection is lost
let's try pulling the plug