

Eden

Invent, Animate

Floral field, you spoke my name
Emerging to the surface from a darkened strain
Swiftly floating up, separating from myself
Disconnected, drifting on my own
If I stop for a second, I can hear it say
"The light within was always bright in me"
Treading safely, resting closed away

Show me clarity, reveal
Moments that could heal the pain
Falling under what I feel
Embracing escape, never let it slip away

Taking over, you let it slip away
Falling under what I feel
Taking over
Maybe time will tell what's real in this

Never to enter the void again
So devouring
Can I tell if this is real or should I face reality?
Never cease to be
Something inside is rising, I feel it taking over me
A gentle breeze illuminates
"The light within was always bright in me"
Shine in the darkness when I can't see

Show me clarity, reveal
Moments that could heal the pain
Falling under what I feel
Embracing escape, never let it slip away

Taking over, you let it slip away
Falling under what I feel
Taking over, you let it slip away
Maybe time will tell what's real in this