

Midnight Hymn

Invent, Animate

I was just giving in
I was just spending my time
All of my time, in my head
While the outside of me was dead
I was just giving in

When we speak, we create
When we love, we relate

Exist, for just a fraction of a second
And you know you're alone
Paint myself in purity
Lose myself in weightless love

Close my eyes, as the world goes away
Call it emptiness, or call it grace
To never know, is not the saving face

When we speak, we create
When we love, we relate

The audible mind, meets the mind awake
We align our thoughts, to mold like clay
Quiescent beings, of the new age
Find your way, find your way

Exist, for just a fraction of a second
And know you're alone
Paint myself in purity
Lose myself in weightless love

The aura hides in a sacred place
Quiescent beings of the new age
Find your way, find your way, with me
In this solitary state, every word has weight
We align our thoughts, to mold like clay
Find your way, find your way