

Return To One

Invent, Animate

Sacred blurring faces
(Always watching)
Silent reverie, shadow speak to me
Show me the other side of heaven
Coalescing specters bring me to the end

I was holding a fading memory
I was holding the sunlight, it lingers on your skin
Slipping through my hands

I think I lost myself in the overgrowth
A silhouette in the embers glow
A shade astray signals your ghost
Twin worlds collide, our voices swallowed

Antimatter, the void resurfacing
Without a whisper, we merge into one sleep

(Holy labyrinthine)

Death is but a dream
Would you wait to fade with me?

And I've been drowning in the downpour
Of bleeding satellites
The persistence of your absence
Left me staring through the-

(Bloom in heaven)
(Bloom in heaven)
My evergreen, you're all I see
A weightlessness, would you fade with me?
Oh, my evergreen, you're all I see
A weightlessness
Will I find you at the end?

Flowers filled the space between our skin
Your palms held open to the sky, cradling the stars' impermanence

I'll let the light sink in, suspended in my chest
I'll let the light sink in, wait to fade with me

Bloom in heaven
Bloom in heaven