

I know I came home late and I didn't call
Didn't want to complicate, didn't want to hit the wall
The words I said only went so far when you were all alone
We lost our way now we've both been tossed into the great unknown

Moving on, said you're moving on
Said you couldn't take the reminders
Sad songs always coming on
Couldn't ever put it behind you

Knew I'd always be
Walking that endless line
Knew that I'd be right there
No I'm going nowhere
No I didn't ever mind you
Taking up all my time
You were still good to me too
You were too good to be true

I know I can't stop fate and I don't recall
Whatever I said too late didn't matter after all
Mistakes were made but the debts were paid and that's all I know
But the shifting tide always took its time bringing me back home

Moving on, said you're moving on
Said you couldn't take the reminders
Sad songs always coming on
Couldn't ever put it behind you

Knew I'd always be
Walking that endless line
Knew that I'd be right there
No I'm going nowhere
No I didn't ever mind you
Taking up all my time
You were still good to me too
You were too good to be true

Too good to be true
Too good to be true

Woah woah woah woah baby say it ain't so
Baby say it ain't so, I wanna know
Ooh ooh ooh ooh can I count on you?
Can I count on you? Are we pushing on through?
Can I count on you? Are we pushing on through?
Baby we both knew, baby we both knew

Knew I'd always be
Walking that endless line
Knew that I'd be right there
No I'm going nowhere
No I didn't ever mind you
Taking up all my time
You were still good to me too
You were too good to be true

Knew I'd always be
Walking that endless line
Knew that I'd be right there
No I'm going nowhere
No I didn't ever mind you
Taking up all my time
You were still good to me too
You were too good to be true

Moving on, said you're moving on
No you couldn't put it behind you
