

You & I

Irfan Makki

You and I, we are the same
We win and lose in the game of life
You and I, we seek the truth
Looking for the signs in the universe

In this journey we are companions
Struggling through life towards our way

Why should a mother cry
Why should a wife see her husband die
Ooh, tell me why do we have to fight
Why don't we try just you and I
Ooh, why don't we try

You and I, we love our land
Protect our home against any harm
You and I, dream of a day
When everybody will live in peace

In this journey we are companions
Struggling through life towards our way

Why should a mother cry
Why should a wife see her husband die
Ooh, tell me why do we have to fight
Why don't we try just you and I
Ooh, why don't we try

Throughout history so many senseless wars
Yet we never learn, we're building borders around us
But we still have a chance to heal our wounded world
Let's get rid of hatred and see each other as we really are Before it's too late, who knows what tomorrow may bring
But without justice there's no way that peace can exist

Why should a mother cry
Why should a wife see her husband die
Ooh, tell me why do we have to fight
Why don't we try just you and I

Ooh, can you tell me why should a mother cry
Why should a wife see her husband die
Ooh, tell me why do we have to fight
Why don't we try just you and I

Ooh, can you tell me why should a mother cry
Why should a wife see her husband die
Ooh, tell me why do we have to fight
Why don't we try just you and I
Why don't we try
