

In Spite

Iris

And I don't want to lie
In spite of what you're thinking
No cloud within your sky
Until I come to place one

'Til you understand that I'm just not right
'Til you understand that I'm just not right
With myself
We must slow down
With myself
We must slow down

In spite of the words I've left inside you
In spite of the wall I build we can't tear down
In spite of the way I run when still you keep calling
You feel like the only angel God's allowed

One day I had become
Your unsuspected traitor
Then handed you in turn
To my eternal captors

When the lightning strikes upon holy land
And you're lost in spite of your only map
Well I know
It hurts so bad
Yes I know
It's all I've had

In spite of ghosts that roam beside you
In spite of the shadows on your bedroom wall
In spite of the nightmare dreams that cause to awaken
You still are the strongest earth soul of them all

And I don't want to lie
In spite of what you're thinking
And I don't want to lie

In spite of the words I've left inside you
In spite of the wall I build we can't tear down
In spite of the way I run when still you keep calling
You feel like the only angel God's allowed