

Saving Time

Iris

Only for this while it hasn't come over me i won't let it fall again won't let it come close to me

I've got my mind made up now for one last time so that i'll feel alright so that these lives are in line

Now you know to be young isn't the hardest thing you've ever done know before your time has gone away you're saving time

Happens every now and then a leak is sprung a rush and all dries out and something saves your life

All these eyes that see into me all the lessons that live through me now that it's done you're alive, you're alive

Now you know it's enough showing that faith is all that you've ever won know before your time has gone away
you're saving time

Wing-backed dreams, no more joy you've left undone (it's not too much to ask) enter: light, and i feel the sun..