

I am a rocky shore
Beside a violent sea
Where the waves crash hard
They break right on top of me
But there are other worlds than these
Other possibilities
And where you see no more
I can see infinity
The day is done
There will always be another one

There will always be a piece of me
That I lose
When I sleep
There will always be an end of me
It will always be a fucking part of me
It will always be
What it's always been
Not knowing that
Is my greatest sin
There will always be another way to live
And that's just the fucking way it is

I am an open door
How many can you see?
The answer's none
There will never be another one

There will always be a piece of me
That I lose
When I sleep
There will always be an end of me
It will always be a fucking part of me
It will always be
What it's always been
Is my greatest sin
There will always be another way to live
And that's just the fucking way it is