Isac Elliot

I thought I'd be ready for it, if it came around
I could put a brave face on and look happy
For fifteen minutes and act surprised
When you finally admit it, you moved on

And you're happy now
So you figured it out
Got a place at the edge of town
With someone you met
A friend of a friend
And well, you can work it out

That's too much information
Are you tryna make me hate him?
I don't wanna hear about what car he drives
That's too much information
I'm glad you're doing amazing
But I think that I've heard enough for tonight

I want you to be happy, but just not yet
I don't wanna be that easy to forget
I want you to be happy, but just not yet
I don't wanna be that easy to forget

Thought I'd be ready for it when you posted the first
Picture together, you don't know how much that hurt
The kind of surprise that isn't good
You look happier than I ever could make you

Like I had your back
[?] of the track
But hey, you're shining now
And it kills me to see
You make memories
And well, you leave me out

That's too much information
Are you tryna make me hate him?
I don't wanna hear about what car he drives
That's too much information
I'm glad you're doing amazing
But I think that I've heard enough for tonight (Enough for tonight)

I want you to be happy, but just not yet
I don't wanna be that easy to forget
I want you to be happy, but just not yet
I don't wanna be that easy to forget

Oh, just not yet
Uh, to forget, ooh
(Just not yet)
You're not too easy (To forget)
