

Fahrenheit

It Bites

Is it impossible, I count on you to feel alive Almost intangible, to build across the great divide I sometimes wander to the place you are But there's further still to go

Is it impossible, I count on you to lead the way Almost intangible, these steps get wider every day And I will be here when the winter comes And the warmth has passed away

Chorus: Fahrenheit Pushing the distance back into this life Fahrenheit Wherever emotion is out of control When the time is right I will come with you into the bright light Fahrenheit But there's always a place to go

I will remember you, it seems a lot like yesterday Another memory, I try so hard to run away But I will be here when the winter comes
And the snow is here to stay

(Chorus)

Passing the seasons, I'm finding the reasons You are always on my mind Each way that I turn, another lesson to learn Another time I never believe there is no gentle reprieve I've only got myself to blame I want you to know that wherever I go You'll never leave my heart again

Is it impossible, to build across the great divide And all these memories recall this feeling

(Chorus)
