

Great Disasters

It Bites

Pulling the pieces together that happen in my life A circle remains still a square or so I'm told And I never forget, I give in, I was meant to be lonely And why is everyone lonely? Nobody shouldn't feel alone

Chorus: I'm headed for a great disaster Crashing around me in my life I'm headed for a great disaster now We shouldn't be a great disaster No more time can make this feel right now

You will destroy all the things that I took to mean holy I will hold onto the words that I choose to recall And I know there's a place I fit in that I keep for me solely And why is everyone lonely? Nobody shouldn't feel alone

So when it comes down to it, just one thing remains I call this space my inbetween And when I'm too blind to see, in all honesty We give up much faster, these great disasters

(Chorus)
