

Playground

It Bites

There used to be England, a place I would run to
A home in my heart and a dream on my sleeve
I figured a moment and stared into water
It seemed for a while that this hope wouldn't leave

"Run away, run away", she said, "All is eventual"
"Run away now, run away from this lie"

Chorus: And I can't help believing, in the absence of feeling
As I'm turning away from my heart
Still I don't want to turn
Cos turning makes you fall
I will find you, I will find you, I will find you

There used to be rainfall in this quiet playground
A place and a time when I used to feel love
I covered some distance and never looked backwards
Remind me, my friend, why I tripped and I fell

Run away, run away, there's no reason to stay now
Run away now, run away for your life

(Chorus)

Run away now, away now
Run away you've built a wall
Run away now, away now, away now
