

One Ball

Itchyworms

I wonder what would happen if you leave
Would there be room enough for me to breathe?
You love red wine but I like blue
I can't picture living with or without you

You make me feel so out of place
Give me just a little space
While I respect your borderline
You're standing over mine

You're stepping on me
One ball at a time

You're out of bounds as far as I can see
The court ain't big enough for you and me
You're always giving me a service ace
I'm stuck here waiting at second base

The shot clock's ticking and it's long as hell
Whatever happened to the half time bell
You act like it's a waste of time
Ignoring all the signs

You're stepping on me
One ball at a time

Under the moonlight where the dragons fly into the waterfall
There lived a girl who'd ride your car and drive it straight to the wall
I hope this bridge make sense
I hope this bridge make sense at all
'Cause after all

One ball, one ball
