

Even when the night grows old
Even when my cry goes long
Even when I lost all resistance
My heart as it cries You home, God

Your family is in your business
It seems never ending
Hearts been broken
Into a million pieces

Ooh, this could make your heart go boom
Especially when it comes from those
You love the most
Tell who can take this pain away, God

Even when the night grows old
Even when my cry goes long
Even when I lost all resistance
My heart as it cries You home, God

The church is being plastic
With a bunch of empty promises
Your growth is being stunted
Injured from the back stabs

Ooh, this could make your faith go boom
Especially when it comes from those
You love the most
Tell who can take this pain away, God

Even when the night grows old
Even when my cry goes long
Even when I lost all resistance
My heart as it cries You home, God

Tell me who you're gonna call
Who you're gonna trust
When the enemy comes in like a flood
And nobody is showing up
That's why I depend You
Because You've never ever left me alone
I know I can do all things through You

Even when the night grows old
Even when my cry goes long
Even when I lost all resistance
My heart as it cries You home, God...
