

I Don't Know

Jack & Jack

Oh my God, think I fell in love overnight
Playing with my feelings, that's not nice
Truth is I could see you
In my life with me, my life with me (yeah, yeah)

You the shit, roll that wood
And let's get high and lay low
We can do whatever if you say so
Go and lay it all out on the table, oh

You were just somebody
You were just somebody

Oh I think I'm in love
With your body and your mind
And your soul and your eyes
But I don't know
Oh I think I'm in love
With your body and your mind
And your soul and your eyes
But I don't know

Oh my God
Looking like you should be a crime (you so fine)
You stuntin' on all of these bitches without even tryin'
Give me one good reason why
Why you're solely mine, they can't intertwine
I know you been searchin' for quite some time
I can see in those eyes, yeah
You the worst, bad as fuck when we make love
For the first time I knew I would have
To put your ass in a verse
Hittin' every angle like I'm Kurt

Such a flirt
I like it when you bitin' on my ear
Holyfield, holy shit, what's the deal?
Baby, what you need?
We could run it up, track and field
Fuck a snack, you're a four-course meal
Ain't it crazy how

You were just somebody
You were just somebody (ain't it crazy how-)
You were just somebody
You were just somebody
You were just somebody
You were just somebody
You were just somebody (ain't it crazy how-)
You were just somebody
You were just somebody

You were just somebody
You were just somebody, yeah

Oh I think I'm in love
With your body and your mind
And your soul and your eyes
But I don't know
Oh I think I'm in love
With your body and your mind
And your soul and your eyes
But I don't know

Oh my God
Oh my God
