

Bullet

Jack Gray

I started to party properly when I was fifteen
Unpopular, probably stumble through in my ripped jeans
4 in the morning you call and tell me I'm boring
You need a night like this

Stoned as fuck just like the way that you left me
I'm still crashing in my parents' house, I'm well in my twenties
I'm looking for advice, I'll listen if you let me
I need a night like this

Your hold surrounds me
'Cause you cannot grow old oh when
Your mind is lost at sea
So keep me in your mind
Well don't forget the love we had
This wasn't a goodbye
It took a bullet for the pain to escape

I'm called to the curtain
Burning sensation in my chest
What is my purpose
Is it worth it to keep fighting this?
Feel like a burden
But only because I'm hurting
I miss the nights like this

I take the D line to the bottle shop
I open, now it's bottoms up
Tell me that I need to stop
Get a grip, you're old enough
Heavy and over the top
Senseless when molly's my rock
Tell me all you know about breathing

Your hold surrounds me
'Cause you cannot grow old oh when
Your mind is lost at sea
So keep me in your mind
Well don't forget the love we had
This wasn't a goodbye
It took a bullet for the pain to escape

Bullet to
Bullet to
Bullet to escape
Bullet to
Bullet to escape
It took a bullet to
Bullet to
Bullet to escape
Bullet to
Bullet to escape

How could you be so fucking selfish
I know that you couldn't help it
If you were big enough to know
That we could've dealt with it

Try to understand or begin to comprehend
The reason that you needed a night like this to end

Your hold surrounds me
'Cause you cannot grow old oh when
Your mind is lost at sea
So keep me in your mind
Well don't forget the love we had
This wasn't a good, no, this wasn't a goodbye
(This wasn't a goodbye)
This wasn't a goodbye