

With You Now

Jack Gray

I left my phone at the airport
At the cafe with my passport
Looking back
Didn't know what I was in for
We used to be so simple

I get home at midnight
Mid fight
Miss you most at sunset
Mid flight
And when I'm getting in my car
For the first time since September
Don't you remember

How we used to be so tight
Now I'm standing over water
I see you on the phone sometimes
Only 25 minutes to adore you
I've never been a jealous guy
But it feels like the sky is falling down
I wish I was with you now
Wish I was with you now

Left you behind with my hoodie and my black jeans
Saying goodbye in the taxi
Looking back
King beds get lonely
See, you don't call and I don't sleep

I get home at midnight
Mid fight
Miss you most at sunset
Mid flight
And when I'm getting in my car
For the first time since September
Don't you remember

How we used to be so tight
Now I'm standing over water
I see you on the phone sometimes
Only 25 minutes to adore you
I've never been a jealous guy
But it feels like the sky is falling down
I wish I was with you now
Wish I was with you now
I wish I was with you now

How can we be civil in a civil war
Half way across the world now we're in it
Why can't we be like we were before
Maybe we're too proud to admit it
How can we be civil in a civil war
Half way across the world now we're in it
Why can't we be like we were before
Like we were before

How we used to be so tight

Now I 'm standing over water
I see you on the phone sometimes
Only 25 minutes to adore you
I 've never been a jealous guy
But it feels like the sky is falling down
I wish I was with you now
Wish I was with you now
Wish I was with you now
I wish I was with you now
Wish I was with you now
