

Keep It Light

Jack Harlow

I'm everything that I said I'd be Everything that I bet I be
All the kids that I grew up with
They see me out and congratulate me
Couple of 'em just graduated
Couple of 'em done had a baby
But all of them look at my life
And say, "That's amazing"
I say "thank you" like twenty times
Try to talk about something else
Reminisce on some funny time
Truthfully, I'm not comfortable with getting all the praise
Even more when y'all get to drinking
And start telling me all the things
That you really think
Like what I should've done differently
What you think of my energy
The downsides that come with being friends with me
I can tell you think this the realest that anybody's ever been with me
But luckily, I got PG
And luckily, I keep them with me

I keep it humble so you can have a good time
I keep it light so you can have a lil' shine
And I sleep at night just fine
I tried to be kind
Now I'm speaking my mind

(Time)
(In my time)
(In my time)
(In my time)

Once people lose touch with you
They start to hate ya
Start to show you they true nature
Start to be the ones in the comments
That's talking 'bout you like you a stranger
Talking 'bout ya like y'all didn't have class together
Talking like you not humble now or you acting better
Speaking on the things you've done
That they haven't ever
I play the game, you watch the game
Like Adam Scheffer
I created this added pressure
I'm the one that made Jack get better
Tone it down? I could never
All the greats caught all the hate
All the rappers I love most
At one point got called a fake
Everybody seem to know the song that I oughta make Know the route that I oughta take
I put too much work in to just call it fate

But I keep it humble so you can have a good time
I keep it light so you can have a lil' shine
And I sleep at night just fine

I tried to be kind
Now I'm speaking my mind
