

Everything's Brown

Jack Off Jill

Hello, I'm here to invite you
To things you cannot feel
And if you push me to far
You might believe I'm real
Teeth scrape beneath the sweater
To when you hate and steal
Or do you think it better
To obsess and not reveal

I know you secret
It scrapes you way down
Everything was clean
Now everything's brown
Don't try to hide it when you cannot feel
What you are is something that i won't reveal

Hello, I'm here to invite you
To things you cannot feel
And if you fall apart
You'll pretend I'm not real
You can't erase what you are
So don't even try
And how can I be truthful
When everything I am is a lie

I know your secret
It scrapes you way down
Everything came clean
Now everything's brown
Don't try to hide it
When you dig to feel
When it falls apart
I hope I won't reveal

Hello remember
Hello remember
Hello remember
Hello I'm real real real
When you think I'm not real