

Life's So Easy (Underwater)

Jack River

I stood at the ocean shore
As she opened up her doorshe said "Friend come inside"
Then she just broke down and cried

"I'm the woman of your dreams
But you're killing me"
Oh how could it be
That we're killing the sea?

Life's so easy underwater
Melting motions through your mother
Liquid moments hear them call you
And be cool
Life's so easy underwater
Melting motions through your mother
Liquid moments hear them call you
And be cool

All the fishes in the sea
They never seemed to bother me
Why should we bother them?

The starfish and stingrays
Oh they're all
Part of making waves
For the cosmic wooden boards
Surfing into the shore

And she holds you like no one else can
And she holds you like no one else can

In the photographs you like no one else can
And she hold you like no one else can
I was just three, you were a newborn child
Ocean come on take me I'm not scared
Show me your creatures
Behold me your treasures

You are the blue crystal that won't freeze
You set the moon free
You are the only one

Life's so easy underwater
Melting motions through your mother
Liquid moments hear them call you
And be cool
Life's so easy underwater
Melting motions through your mother
Liquid moments hear them call you
And be cool
Life's so easy underwater
Melting motions through your mother
Liquid moments hear them call you
And be cool
