

Without

Jack Savoretti

I've been walking in this road
Time passing me by
Letting go of what I couldn't hold
Finding places to hide

I've been watching you closely
Every move that you make
And all the things you've showed to me
Are getting harder to take

I wish that we could begin from the start
I pray that I could be brave enough
To show you how easily I fall apart
I can't let you know
That I can't let it show
'cause I'd rather be without than be without you

I guess I feel like a stranger
When it comes down to love
I'm too aware of the danger
That it can bring upon us

I wish that we could begin from the start
I pray that I could be brave enough
To show you how easily I fall apart
I can't let you know

I wish that we could begin from the start
I pray that I could be brave enough
To find out if you'd ever give me your heart
Cause you don't let me know
You don't let it show
And I want you to know
That I'd rather be without than without you
