

There Comes A Time

Jack Scott

There comes a time in everybody's life
When their true love lets them down
He's (???) throw my love, my very precious love
In my dreams they tumble to the ground

Here I stand alone where we once stood together
Thinking of our life, just her and I together
What will I do, oh where will I go?
She's gone from me and now I know

There comes a time in everybody's life
When their true love lets them down
Here I stand alone facing each new tomorrow
A million years to go, I'll fill with sorrow
What will I do, oh where will I go?
She's gone from me and now I know

There comes a time in everybody's life

When their true love lets them down
(There comes a time, there comes a time)
