

Terminal Archenemy Endling

Jack White

How do you feel if you felt it all now
From chamomile to cannonball?
And how do you see if you seen it all now
From falling water to waterfall?

I thought I knew it all, I thought I knew everything
Yeah, that I would never fall, fall for anything
At all

What can you hear at the break of dawn now
From red breasted raven to feeble fawn?
And what can you sense, when I make no sense at all, girl
From morning scream, to sleepy yawn?

When I hear your call, it feels like coming home
Oh yeah, like I'm ten feet tall, and younger than anyone
At all

Where would I be if I didn't know you
From a factory to a country home?
And what would I have if I never really had you?
What's the point of being free if I'm all alone?
Yeah

I thought I knew it all, I thought I knew everything
Alright! Thought I would never fall, fall for anything
At all

How do you feel when you felt it all now?
And how do you see when you've seen it all?
