There are times I close my eyes and wish upon a star.

I tell myself my fairytale's not far, not far.

I close my eyes and look deep inside, let the dreams that I have take flight. I lift up my head and just believe, knowing I was made to dream.

From now on, my life's my song and I write the words.

my moment will come and until then, I'll hold on, I'll hold on.

I close my eyes and look deep inside, let the dreams that I have take flight. I lift up my head and just believe, knowing I was made to dream.

Made to dream, to live my goals, to be counted for, to stand, knowing you'll take my hand.

I'm here, I was made for this, to sing
'Til I have no voice at all.
'Til the dream makes me whole.

I close my eyes
and know deep inside,
let the dreams that I have take flight.
I lift up my head and just believe,
knowing I was made to dream,
knowing I was made to dream,
made to dream.
