

Big Blue Sky

Jackson Dean

Walked a ghost town in the dead of night
There I met an old dog who hadn't lost all of his fight
He did not say where he was going
But what he said he said it just like a poet

I got that big blue sky on my mind
Running like I still got time on my side
Dying just to see it
Living just to breathe it
Have I just been dreaming
Or is it somewhere somewhere underneath that big blue sky

He left me there whippin' in the wind
But I got a feeling that I'll see him again
He's probably still out there out on the road
He'll cross your path a flash of white
Just like a lightning bolt

He got that big blue sky on his mind
Running like he's still got time on his side
Dying just to see it
Living just to breathe it
Has he just been dreaming
Or is it somewhere somewhere underneath that big blue sky

I got that big blue sky on my mind
Running like I still got time on my side
Dying just to see it
Living just to breathe it
Have I just been dreaming
Or is it somewhere somewhere underneath that big blue sky
That big blue sky
