

last time i saw you said you were on the mend i guess you were just lying again
that's ok cause i lie like that too
i like to pretend i'm better than you

you know we've got the same black heart the same black stitching that we pull apart
oh

what was the final straw last thing you clould take i know you'd leave us soon but were you stile awake when your second shot was tired wish has now expired finally ringing true left us without you

you know we had the same black heart
the same black stitching that pulled you apart
oh

now we'll have to do witnout nothing we can do about it i hope you're happier alone

now we'll have to do witnout
nothing we can do about it i hope you found a better home

you know we've got the same black heart
the same black stitching that we pull apart
you know we had the same black heart
the same black stitching that pulled you apart