

You Can't Have It

Jackson United

The warning signs were all there
The tingling on end hair
The loudest voice was your own

The oil fields were burning The wheels of commerce turning
The king sat smiling on his throne

But you're left out on your own Told to love the hate you're thrown We're throwing out the tyrants...

Is this the life that you want?
Is this the world that you want?
Is this the love that you take for granted?
Is this the life that you take?
The world you want but you can't have it

Marginalized and suppressed
"How could you criticize us?"
devoted to a higher cause not made of flag waving troop support and blind faith we'll lead the charge, the coup d'etat wrap the propaganda in any flag you want to keep their eyes shut scared of everything
