

She Put Sunshine

Jacob Collier

She put sunshine into my silhouette
Was feeling heavy and she got me drunk instead
Corner to corner, line by line
She's making me dream out loud

She put sunshine into my open mouth
Too many words gave me something to sing about
Morning to morning, rhyme by rhyme
She's giving me back my smile
She's keeping warm all the while

She knows just how to wake me
She paints me gold and shakes me

I get a little lonely
And she comes to me
She illuminates me
And if she ever gets close to me
Well it's plain to see
She'd incinerate me
But I don't mind her
Giving me her sunshine smile

She put sunshine onto my Internet
Connection was low, she put a ring on it
Colder and colder, crime to crime
She's opening up windows
To everything I don't know

She knows just how to fake me
She paints me bold and stakes me high

I get a little lonely
And she comes to me
She illuminates me
And if she ever gets close to me
Well it's plain to see
She'd incinerate me
But I don't mind her

Bees, a remedy
And again, and again, and again, and a-

Bees, a remedy
And again, and again, and again, and a-

Trees, to cover me
Good morning sunshine
Bees, a remedy
And again, and again, and again, and a-
(Good morning, hallelujah)
Trees, to cover me
Bees, a remedy

Trees, to cover me
Bees, a remedy
Trees, to cover me

But I get a little lonely
And she comes to me
And if she ever gets close to me
Well it's plain to see

But I get a little lonely
And she comes to me
She illuminates me
And if she ever gets close to me
Well it's plain to see
But I don't mind her giving me her sunshine smile

Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh
