

Gone The Days

Jacob Lee

Gone the days
Where I would stop down by that railway
And hope that you'd be passing through
Gone the days
Where I would tiptoe down that staircase
And know that I would find you

Tell me where you wanna go
I feel anxious as we turn away
To step toward our new life
Tell me, did you ever know?
How I missed you as I lie awake
Hoping for your brown eyes
To gaze on me tonight

Gone the days
Where I would go to pack my suitcase
And not set out clothes for you
Gone the days
Where I would walk out through that doorway
And say, "I'll be home soon" (I'll be home soon)

Tell me where you wanna go
I am careful as I hug your waist
And step up to that train line
Tell me, did you ever know?
How I missed you as we lie awake
Passing by the countryside
That chases us tonight

Heaven's low enough
To reach beneath the window
Passing us the signs
We need to fight our tired eyes
Travel slow enough
To glance upon the billows
Parting with the past
We left far behind the lines
Which take us far tonight

Tell me where you wanna go
I am careful as I hug your waist
And step up to that train line
Tell me, did you ever know?
How I missed you as we lie awake
Passing by the countryside
That chases us tonight

Gone the days
Where I would stop down by that railway
And not hop aboard too
