

Jealousy

Jacob Lee

Tell me why you're upset
I didn't hear a word you said
Waking up beneath you
The only thing I don't regret
You say you wanna love me
And yet, I'm leaving with your friend
Now I don't know if I would
Wait a while, wait a while, wait a while, don't lecture me, lecture me

Call me just to lecture me
I don't care about your jealousy
I would love to tie you up in a bed of lies
Even if I let you down
I might go and do it twice around
Every time I wonder why you look so surprised

Did you ever need me?
Is there more than love at stake?
When do we arrive in paradise?
It's a little hopeless
Asking me to change my ways
Handing you my heart you, paralysed

Call me just to lecture me
I don't care about your jealousy
I would love to tie you up in a bed of lies
Even if I let you down
I might go and do it twice around
Every time I wonder why you look so surprised

Feel a little low when I get too high, and I undermine, what I feel now
Sitting on a phone that I wish would die, if I don't reply to you somehow
You will never know what is on my mind, even if you tried
I'd wonder why, you let me lie

Tell me why you're upset
I didn't hear a word you said
Waking up beneath you
The only thing I don't regret
You say you wanna love me
And yet, I'm leaving with your friend
Now I don't know if I would
Wait a while, wait a while, wait a while, don't lecture me, lecture me

Call me just to lecture me
I don't care about your jealousy
I would love to tie you up in a bed of lies
Even if I let you down
I might go and do it twice around
Every time I wonder why you look so surprised

Call me just to lecture me
I don't care about your jealousy
I would love to tie you up in a bed of lies
Even if I let you down
I might go and do it twice around
Every time I wonder why you look so surprised
