Hello, where have you been? You're about to miss it all. I would give anything to hear you call, if I'm honest

Sometimes, it's all that I can do to keep my head up high.

I'm like a book with empty pages inside.

Cold wind blowing through the window shade. I'm calling what el se can I say?

I'm like a billboard in the sky.

How many times you've passed me by, you've passed me by? You're like a blinking neon light,

How many times I've bought your lies? Sometimes I wonder why, i f I'm honest.

My life, it's not as easy as I make you think I close my eyes a nd I try not to blink, if I'm honest

Cold wind blowing through the window shade. Fallin' faster each and every day.

I'm like a billboard in the sky.

How many times you've passed me by, you've passed me by? You're like a blinking neon light,

How many times I've bought your lies? Sometimes I wonder why