

Eve, I know it's gonna get like this

He lost his way and found it in the dark
The gold and diamonds could dissolve his pride
They warned him one day you might lose your spark
The made us walk right out of Eden's gate
(No, no, no, we can't go home, so we gon' walk down this lonely road)
(Lonely road, walk down this lonely road)
And they saw Eve looking up at the tree
I told her "No, he'll teach us how to feed"
He took his glass and filled it with the sin
I had one drink and everything turned pink

We were running through the stars
We were sitting in the garden
Bathe in the Euphrates, back to where we started
My heart fluttering for you is no remedy
It's all pulling on my body like it's meant to be
You're my muse, watch all your moves
I've gotta see it through
It's me and you
Hear those voices
Unprescribed, I can't describe your units
He took his glass and filled it with the sin
I had one drink and everything turned
