

They pull me undone
Tied to loose, carelessly spun
Now you tuck under my skin
Pull you close, letting you in to my bones

Red thread in my lungs
Start to fray, colour will run
Can you hold under my veins?
Pull me close, letting you in to my bones

Through my bones
Through my bones
Through my bones

And webs
Wrap you in your sleep
And suffocate the day
Protect you from your dreams
And we can build new threads
And we can just pretend
That we are not alone
So wrap me in your webs
Wrap me in your webs

Webs over my skin
Cast your line, reel me in
On my eyes, laying your film
Take my time, letting you in to my bones
(I see a gate, I see a light)
Through my bones
(I see friend, I see her fall and I see her come)
(I see a mountain and I see a bull)
Bones
(I see a thread, yeah, I see it grow)
(I see a friend, yeah, I see her go)
Through my bones
(I see a future, I see it come)
(I see a future, I see it come)

And webs
Wrap you in your sleep
And suffocate the day
Protect you from your dreams
And we can build new threads
And we can just pretend
That we are not alone
So wrap me in your webs
Wrap me in your webs