

Still Remains

Jah Cure

Know I should be getting over
Should be giving you the cold shoulder
Look what you're putting me through
After I gave you all of me

Now the memories keep coming
Seems like I can't outrun them
They just won't leave me alone
Look what you did

Damn you, you made me a prisoner
I'm here stuck in the middle
With nowhere to go
I'll try to hate you or be a little bitter
All things considered
But this heart for you still remains
Still remains
Still remains
Still remains
But this heart for you

When I think about the time we were through
And what I could have done with you
Beside I couldn't raise my mind
Get back the time you stole from me

Now the memories keep coming
Seems like I can't outrun them
They just won't leave me alone
Look what you did

Damn you, you made me a prisoner
I'm here stuck in the middle
With nowhere to go
I'll try to hate you or be a little bitter
All things considered
But this heart for you still remains
Remains, remains, remains, you
Still remains
Still remains
Still remains
