

The Fool

Jain

Walking on a wire from Earth to Venus ground
Playing with my balance, I'm not afraid to fall
A rose grows in outer space, I should have known better
The rain of fiery rocks, the sun lights up the dark

I'm dancing on the moon, the moon
I'm floating like a fool, a fool

Walking on a wire, I don't care who's around
Fairy-flying footsteps, each one's a new surprise
Spinning, colored circles, there's no up or down
Singing in the silence to my morning star

I'm dancing on the moon, the moon
I'm floating like a fool, a fool
I'm dancing on the moon, the moon
I'm floating like a fool, a fool

A new universe we never knew, new
A new universe we never knew, new

Walking a little higher, on my fingers, Saturn's rings (I'm dancing)
Echoes have no answers, so I won't ask anything (I'm floating)
Who cares where we will go as long as we go together? (I'm dancing)
Tightrope tied to your heart across the universe (I'm floating)
